Wylie Returns to Every-Other-Week Watering Schedule

Wylie, TX, Oct. 28, 2014 – Effective Nov. 1, the City of Wylie returns to once-every-two-weeks watering on residents' trash day, following the recommendation of North Texas Municipal Water District. In addition, customers should water only as needed and never between 10 am and 6 pm. These restrictions will be in place through March 31, 2015. Go to wylietexas.gov/drought for the schedule.

Because most sprinkler systems are not programmable to meet this schedule, customers may wish to turn off their sprinkler systems and operate them manually, as needed.

Water supplies remain below normal conservation levels. Lavon Lake is 12.51 feet below normal, and Lake Jim Chapman is 11.55 feet below the normal level.
